The Latest from Brazil

Peace and Quiet Reigns in the New Republic.

ORDER WILL BE MAINTAINED.

All Obligations of the Old Government Will Be Carried Out by the New—Dom Pedro Well Provided for Financially. Big Advances in Coffee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senator Valente, Brazilian minister, yesterday evening received two dispatches from Rio de Janeiro fully confirming and corroborating the news of the overthrow of Dom Pedro II. One of the dispatches came from Boacayra, the new minister of foreign affairs, and merely announced the success of the revolution and the organization of the provisional republican government.

The other from Minister of War Constant, announced the establishment of the republic and the formation of the new cabinet and also that the dethroned emperor has been directed to leave the country. Everything in Rio, the dispatch stated, was quiet and tranquil. Senator Valente declined to state where he had been requested to resign, merely stating that his resignation was a matter for future consideration.

Nothing has been received at the state department concerning the revolution in Brazil since Friday, when Consul General Dockery's brief cable announcing the change of government was received. The failure to receive additional information leads the department officials to think that the cables have been seized, else upon such an important incident, the representatives of the United States would have kept the government here advised of the progress of events.

Among navy officers no surprise was expressed at the news of the revolution. Commodore Ramsay, chief of the bureau of navigation, said that twenty years ago, when he was in Brazil, there was a general feeling that when Dom Pedro's reign ended a republican form of government would be instituted. Lieut. Barry, who only recently returned from Brazil, says that the change which has come to pass was openly talked of among Brazilians as probable to occur, and they expected it at any time. To the people of Brazil he said it could not appear to have been sudden.

Rev. Dr. Chamberlain, for twenty years a missionary in Brazil, is in the city giving a course of talks at various Presbyterian churches, to which denomination he belongs, in the country of South America, now the scene of a revolutionary war. Having lived in Brazil more than half of his lifetime, his comments on that country are of value.

"What do you consider the chief cause of the civil war now waging in Brazil?" he was asked by a reporter.

"A very potent cause is the princess. She married a French prince, who, coming to Brazil, lost no opportunity for snubbing the people. He was a natural snob, and in his eyes a Brazilian evidently amounted to very little, and the fact that the army has gone over to the revolutionists seems to me to have resulted from the princess' attitude. Two years ago the princess during Dom Pedro's absence from the country freed all the slaves of Brazil and took the entire credit of that action. As a matter of fact there was a very general sentiment throughout the limits of the country for the abolition of the slaves, and they felt that it was not exactly just for one person to assume the entire virtue of an act that was made possible by them.

"Not only did the princess assume the credit of the act, but through her it reverted to the Catholic church. The pope, as soon as the slaves were liberated, sent his blessing to the princess, and bestowed upon her the Golden Rose, an honor the church reserves for but very few of those whose acts it approves. It was then that the people reminded the princess that the Golden Rose brought ill luck with it, and told her to bear in mind that Queen Isabella, of Spain, and the Empress Josephine, of France, had each had the same honor bestowed on them, and that as they, she would be deposed."

"Would the revolution have been precipitated on the country had Dom Pedro been personally in power?"

"I think not. There was a very general love for the emperor which overpowered every other consideration among his subjects."

Objects of the New Government.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—The new government has announced that it will firmly maintain order. It is preparing a circular to foreign governments relative to the overthrow of the empire. The circular will be telegraphed to the Brazilian representatives abroad for presentation to the various governments. The province of Bahia has signified its adherence to the republic. News from the other provinces shows that they are also in favor of a republican form of government.

The republic was proclaimed at Bahia and Pernambuco without opposition. Those cities are quiet but business is at a standstill.

On the morning of the revolution the city awoke to hear the proclamation of the republic of the United States of Brazil. Senators Fonseca, Constant and others proceeded to Petropolis on Friday morning and informed the emperor that he was dethroned. Dom Pedro was calm and dignified, and listened quietly to what his visitors had to say. Senator Fonseca acted as spokesman and said: "Brazil has advanced in civilization enough to dispense with monarchy; the country is grateful for the emperor's patriotism, but has insisted on a republic."

Dom Pedro replied with dignity, declining to abdicate. He would yield to force but would not renounce the throne voluntarily. The imperial family were allowed only one hour to prepare for their departure. A man-of-war was ready with steam up to take them off, and the captain received his instructions as soon as the emperor and his party were on board. The orders informing the captain of his route were sealed, but it is supposed his destination is Lisbon. It is reported that the impending revolution was known to several financial houses in Vienna two days prior to the occurrence.

The New War Minister.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Senator Benjamin Constant, the new war minister of Brazil, is known here as a man of great learning, liberal ideas and force of character. Many of the younger officers of the army studied under him when he was instructor in the military academy, and it can be said that fully two-thirds of the army is thoroughly republican in sentiment. Constant was known early in life as an enthusiastic follower of Comte, the founder of the school of positive philosophy, and in 1871 he formed a positivist club in Brazil.

For some reason or other Dom Pedro, though himself a man of very liberal ideas, never looked with favor upon Constant's theories of government, and on more than one occasion the soldier-philosopher was made to feel the weight of the emperor's displeasure. Constant is not a showy or brilliant man, but a very capable and careful one, and his reputation is stainless. He is the leading spirit of the new regime, though not occupy the nominal headship.

Dom Pedro Well Provided For.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A special to The Times from Rio de Janeiro says: Dom Pedro received $2,500,000 in cash and will receive an annual pension of $450,000. The new Brazilian flag is composed of green and gold stripes, on a blue field, with nineteen stars. It is recognized by every province except Bahia. Not a life has been lost. The only act of violence was the shooting of the minister of marine. He will recover. The men now in control are representative Brazilians, known for their patriotism and integrity.

A Private Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Mr. Shipton Green, the New York representative of Shinglehurst, Brookhurst & Company, of Paris, has received a cable from Paris, dated Nov. 17, which reads as follows: "All classes are giving in to the state of affairs, and the republican form of government seems to have been peaceably adopted in the northern provinces."

Big Advance in Coffee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—At the Coffee Exchange here yesterday coffee advanced from fifteen to twenty-five points. On the first call 20,750 bags were sold.

Cable news from the Havre market to the Coffee Exchange states that coffee has advanced two and one-half francs over Saturday's closing. Coffee in the Hamburg market has advanced one and one-half over the closing prices of Saturday.

London's Latest.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Commercial cables from Rio de Janeiro are unrestricted and unadvised, but all messages of a political nature are subjected to censorship.

The Brazilian legation has received a cablegram from the new Brazilian minister of finance requesting that notice be given to the stock exchange that all the financial engagements of the empire will be faithfully observed by the republic.

A Drop in Brazilian Securities.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Brazilian securities have further declined 5 per cent., and it is with great difficulty that purchasers can be found for them.

A Young Lady Kidnaped.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Miss Alice Jackson was abducted in broad daylight yesterday from in front of the residence of W. H. Broutiers, in the fashionable quarter, near Lafayette park. She was about to enter a carriage with Mr. Broutiers, when she was seized by two men, and hurried into a closed carriage and rapidly driven away. Miss Jackson is the niece of John G. Taylor, of the Richardson-Taylor Drug company, and heiress to a large amount. She left the home of her guardian, Mr. Taylor, about three months ago and went to the Broutiers' to live. Mr. Taylor denies having anything to do with the kidnaping. The girl is still missing with no clue to her whereabouts.

Bank President Whereabouts.

UPPER MERIDEN, O., Nov. 19.—Hon. L. B. Harris, president of the Wyandot County bank, "dropped dead" at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Deceased reported at the bank at his usual hour in his usual good health, and his death is attributed to a falling of the heart. He was 80 years of age. He was formerly a resident of Columbus, in early years. His wealth is estimated at $200,000. He was widely known as a philanthropic gentleman; his bequests during the past few years amounting to more than $10,000.

Bibles Not Publicly Burned.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 19.—The Catholic clergy deny the truthfulness of a report sent out from here a few days since, by the Press Association, stating that in the province of Quebec, the cure of a certain parish collected from the parishioners several hundred bibles, and had them publicly burned on Sunday morning. It is claimed that no names or definite location was given, and that the article is evidently without foundation.

Raising Money Very Slowly.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The world's fair guarantee fund now amounts to $3,638,387.

National Bankrupt Law

The President asked to Recommend One to Congress

IN BEHALF OF THE BANKERS.

Its Objects to Effect an Equitable and Permanent System of Bankruptcy and Protect the Commercial Interests of the Country—Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Col. James O. Broadhead, of Missouri, as chairman, and the members of the presidential committee of the National convention of the representatives of commercial bodies, accompanied by Col. Jay L. Torrey, author of the Torrey National bankrupt law, called upon President Harrison yesterday, and presented to him copies of the proceedings of the first and second sessions of the National bankruptcy convention; the first one of which was held at St. Louis last spring, and the second at Minneapolis in September last.

The latter proceedings contain a copy of the Torrey bankrupt bill, as unanimously adopted and as afterwards approved by the National board of trade, the Boston Merchants' association, the associated wholesale grocers of St. Louis, and all other commercial bodies in different parts of the country.

Col. Broadhead, in his speech, explained the mission of the committee, referred to the provisions of the federal constitution, authorizing congress to enact such a law and said that the most important object of an equitable and permanent system of bankruptcy would be to establish upon a firm basis the commercial interests of the country; assure those who deal in the products and manufactures of the various sections of our widely extended territory, as well as the producers and manufacturers themselves, that in dealing with their customers, they will all be treated alike, and that no local influences or local legislation will enable a debtor in failing circumstances to abuse the confidence which has been given him by a disinterested creditor, but that one law will govern all.

This assurance, he said, would extend and strengthen commerce and afford the best safeguard against monetary crisis such as have occurred from time to time and from which all differ in greater or less degree.

Briefly reviewing the provisions of the bill he said it interfered but slightly with the laws of the several states, aside from those on the subject of insolvency. Its machinery is comprehensive and yet simple. The safeguards with which it surrounds an estate are ample to prevent it from being lost or improperly appropriated. The provisions are most complete for a speedy distribution of the assets to the creditors. Expensive and tedious delays are most carefully guarded against; and on the whole, it seemed calculated as a proper substitute for the many inefficient and ineffectual state insolvency laws and promised to meet with the approval of the unfortunate debtor as well as the unfortunate creditor and to prove a material aid in sustaining and fostering the commercial interests of the country.

In concluding Col. Broadhead earnestly urged the president in the name of the commercial interests of the country to recommend to congress the enactment of a uniform, equitable bankrupt law, such as was presented by the committee.

Addresses were also presented of Mr. John M. Bartlett, of Minneapolis; Hon. Louis Bush, president of the New Orleans board of trade; Hon. John H. Doyle, ex-supreme judge of Ohio, and at present the president of the National bar association; Mr. Leonard J. Gordon, president of the board of trade of Jersey City, N. J.; Mr. B. J. Johnson, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. William J. McManis, of Orbison, O.; Mr. Edward C. Rogers, of Massachusetts, president of the American Paper Manufacturers' association of the United States, and Hon. William G. Whipple, mayor of Little Rock, Ark.

The president received the committee quite cordially, listened attentively to what was said, and an informal discussion followed, in the course of which the president said in effect that he believed that there ought to be a uniform system of bankruptcy, which should remain a permanent feature of the laws of the land; that he did not think that the right of enacting a bankrupt law, as guaranteed by the constitution, should be exercised only at times of a monetary crisis, and simply for the benefit of the wrecked, occasioned thereby but that a good law in times of peace should be placed on the statute books and kept there.

Violating the Alien Contract Law.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The collector of customs at Detroit, Mich., has been making investigations concerning violations of the alien contract labor law at that port, and he has reported to the secretary of the treasury that between 300 and 500 persons residing in Windsor and other places on the Canadian side come to Detroit every day to pursue their various occupations, and he thinks that several hundred citizens of the United States are thrown out of work in consequence. The secretary has directed the collector to proceed against the persons complained of with a view to enforcing the law. The penalty for violating the alien contract labor law is a fine of $1,000.

Important Position Filled.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The secretary of state has announced the appointment of William E. Curtis, Washington correspondent of The Chicago News, as executive officer at the headquarters of the international American congress. Mr. Curtis, under the direction of Mr. Blaine, is to have charge of all the arrangements in connection with the congress, and will organize the corps of secretaries, stenographers, translators and other attaches.

SERIOUS FIRE LOSS.

The Largest China Works in the United States Destroyed.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Knowles, Taylor & Knowles' china works, the largest in the United States, were totally destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock yesterday evening. The loss will probably reach $300,000. Insurance not more than $100,000. Several parties were injured in escaping from the works. The fire started off an explosion in the packing rooms which were filled with straw. During the progress of the fire, the boilers burst making a terrible roar that could be heard for miles.

A plumber was repairing a leaking gas main, when in some manner the escaping gas ignited and an explosion followed. The flames at once broke out and an elevator shaft leading to the sixth story furnished the means of communication to the upper parts of the mammoth structure. To make the situation worse the water supply was found to be inadequate. The flames spread rapidly, and in one hour's time the entire plant was destroyed. Several adjoining dwellings were also caught in the flames and destroyed.

Three hundred workmen will be thrown out of employment. Several accidents are reported to have occurred. A workman by the name of Nicholson fell through a skylight breaking his arm receiving internal injuries. Several other minor accidents are reported as many of the employees were compelled to jump from the windows to escape.

If the firm decides to rebuild it will take one year to do so. These works have been in operation about one year, and made what is known as opaque china. It was a much finer grade of ware than formerly made. The manufacture of this ware had been made a success after considerable trouble.

The fire occurred at the worst season of the firm's business.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

Six Persons Injured, One Fatally, in Pittsburg—Other Wrecks.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—A serious accident occurred in the Pennsylvania railroad yards last night, resulting in the injury of six persons, one of them fatally. The third coach of the eastern express, No. 6, Pennsylvania railway, jumped the track rounding a curve at Seventeenth street, immediately turning over and catching on fire. They were forty passengers in the car. The crew of the train and yard men set to work at once to rescue the passengers from the burning car.

The injured were removed to the West Pennsylvania hospital and are:

Joseph Boncher, of Chicago, enroute to Germany, right leg and arm badly burned, not expected to live; Louis Hogaril, of Pittsburg, enroute to France, scalp wounds; Edward Williams, of Pittsburg, bruised and back sprained; Sarah Williams, his wife, foot crushed, both enroute to England; Richard Lefevre, 1519 Stiles street, Philadelphia, contusion right foot; Mary McTigue, of Pittsburg, contusion back, on her way to England.

The other passengers were but slightly injured.

Injured in a Railroad Wreck.

MOTHEGON, Iowa, Nov. 17.—The Elkade train, on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, left the track Saturday evening at St. Olaf, shaking up the passengers and badly injuring several. Mary Melun, of Dubuque, was seriously hurt about the spine and side; Andrew Reiter, of The McGregor News; Mrs. Thomas Williams, and Deputy Sheriff Elmer Benton, of McGregor, sustained painful, though not serious, injuries. The passenger coach turned completely over.

It Might Have Been Worse.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 19.—The limited mail west on the Pennsylvania railroad ran into a hard slide near Bessemer, Pa., last night and the engine and baggage car were wrecked. Fireman John Good was it is thought, fatally injured. E. H. Butler had one leg broken and was otherwise badly hurt, but will recover. Had the engine fallen to the right instead of the left the entire train, with its load of 200 souls would have gone down an embankment 100 feet high.

Naval Cadet Drowned.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The unknown man who was drowned in the North river off Twenty-fourth street last night proved to be G. R. Kirk, a naval cadet, on board of the United States cutter Boston. Kirk, who had been on a leave of absence, engaged two young men to row him out to the Boston. About midway in the river the tugboat George Starr ran the boat down, and the occupants were thrown into the water. The two young men were rescued, but Kirk for some reason was unable to keep afloat long enough to be rescued.

Scarlet Fever in a Soldiers' Orphan Home.

XENIA, O., Nov. 19.—Scarlet fever has broken out in the soldiers' orphan home here, and a number of children have been attacked with the disease, which is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions.

Pope Leo Pleased.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Catholic has received the following cable from its correspondent at Rome: Rev. P. E. Quigley, D.D., who was reinstated as pastor of St. Francis de Sales church, Toledo, O., from which charge he had been removed by Bishop Gilmore, of Cleveland, was yesterday received in audience by Pope Leo. His holiness spoke feelingly of the American Catholics, whose conduct of late, he said, affords him much consolation.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

TUESDAY, NOV. 19, 1889.

JUDGE THOMAS, of Vanceburg, is in Washington City and knowing ones predict he will be the next Collector of this district.

The Macon Telegraph pointedly remarks that "Ohio and Iowa would not have acted as they did had they been enthusiastic about Mr. Harrison."

The deposed Emperor of Brazil is well provided for for life. The new Republic gave him $2,500,000 cash and $450,000 a year to step down and out and leave the country. He left.

BELVA LOCKWOOD says President Harrison "reminds one of a little country lawyer." Belva ought not talk that way, if she intends to be a candidate for the Presidency in 1892.

Poor Halstead, of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, is catching it right and left. Many Republicans are jumping on to him for his nefarious work in the ballot box forgery, and now the Methodist Ministers' Association says it "stands too high to bandy words with a man who has condescended to go so low." One member asserted that Halstead is doing all in his power to break down the Sabbath.

SENATOR INGALLS is going to have a hard fight for re-election in Kansas. Both the Prohibits and the Anti-Prohibits accuse him of trimming; and there is a serious tariff reform revolt in his own party. Moreover, it is quite probable that the heart of Senator Plumb would not be hopelessly broken if his present colleague should fall of another term. —Inquirer.

Foraker and Mahone have been disposed of, and if the Kansans will only lay Ingalls "on the shelf" they will render the country at large a great favor.

JUDGE THOMAS' application for the Collectorship of this district was a big surprise to Maysville Republicans. Said one: "It's base perfidy on his part." In this connection it is asserted the Judge's letter recommending Captain Hutchins for the position is now on file in the department at Washington City. The row in the Republican camp over the spoils is increased by the Judge's action. There'll be razors in the air, before the wrangle's ended.

The removal of General Manson from the Federal office to which he was appointed by Cleveland doesn't please all Republicans. Here is what the Indianapolis Independent, a Republican paper, has to say about it:

"The removal from office of General Manson, a brave and honorable soldier of two wars, a citizen of unblemished reputation, a leading member of the G. A. R., one whose life, from early manhood to ripe old age, has been an honor to the whole State, to make a place for a party bustler, is in strict accord with the great and patriotic statesmanship of John C. New's little man, B. Harrison."

Are the Farmers Prosperous?

In the report of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor of the State of Ohio, for the year 1888, the following list is given, showing the amount of farm mortgages in the States named:

|-----------|---------------|
| Ohio | $701,040,000 |
| Indiana | 398,000,000 |
| Illinois | 620,000,000 |
| Wisconsin | 230,000,000 |
| Michigan | 31,000,000 |
| Minnesota | 35,000,000 |
| Iowa | 35,000,000 |
| Nebraska | 140,000,000 |
| Kansas | 203,000,000 |
| Missouri | 237,000,000 |

Total farm mortgages in these States, $3,425,000,000

By the census of 1880 the total value of all the farms in these ten States was reported as $5,107,040,000, and it is doubtful if the census of 1893 will show that these farms are worth as much now as in 1880; therefore the startling fact is before us that in ten of the most thriving agricultural States in the Union the farms are mortgaged for two-thirds of their value. —National Advocate.

Men Mock Their Folly.

It is sometimes called the prompting of the devil. It is really the instinct of the tiger. It is worshipped as courage. It is a natural feeling stimulated by parents who teach their children to strike those who offend them. It is not peculiar to Kentuckians, and exists in spite of law, civilization and christianity. It is that diabolical spirit of resentment which would shed blood for every manifestation of opposition and for every fancied insult. It has its only remedy in a fuller sway of that divine religion whose noblest, grandest characteristic is that it teaches us to love our enemies, and to accept blows rather than give way to hate. Look now at the end of Swope and Goodloe. They lie in their graves, the worms eat them, and men mock their folly. —Winchester Democrat.

Not in It.

Lifted is the battle's smoke,
And the clouds have drifted hence;
Let us view the wreckage o'er
As we sit upon the fence.

Every Democrat is gay,
Singing loudly like a linnet,
While Republicans are grim,
All because they weren't in it.

The Mt. Olivet Tribune gave Judge Deming a nice send-off last Saturday for Collector, to succeed the late Colonel Goodloe.

ABERDEEN CHAT.

Mrs. C. B. Sutton returned from her Manchester visit Saturday.

Frank Sibbalds, of Cincinnati, took in the jubilation Saturday.

The remains of Mr. E. Davis were followed to the cemetery Saturday by a large concourse of friends.

Women are said to give back talk. Do men not do the same thing when they criticize the anti-slavery cause?

According to pre-arranged plans and against the inclination of a few sore-headed, disgruntled mugwumps, the jubilation came off Saturday night. It was a success—a howling success. Hancock's band arrived promptly at 7 o'clock, heading the Maysville delegation, which was strong in numbers and of goodly lungs. The procession was then formed and paraded the principal streets to the soul-inspiring strains of "Dixie" as only Hancock's band can render it. After the parade the crowd, which by this time numbered among the thousands, gathered around the stand in front of the Mineral Well House where short speeches were made, interspersed with choice music. Here the only mishap of the evening occurred, the stage breaking down while Mayor Purdon was introducing Clarence L. Saltee to the audience, precipitating Mayor, speaker, band and all to the ground, but for itself doing no injury. It is a wrong allegation, however, to suppose that it was the weight of the Mayor's argument that broke the stage. John Carrigan followed Mr. Saltee in a short speech and several other speakers were heard from by the appreciative crowd. Fire-works were in profusion, Hancock's band, as usual, came in for the lion's share of the honors in making this the most successful gathering ever held in Aberdeen.

SMALL JOLLIFIERS.

Everybody seemed to be happy. The Mineral Well House was brilliantly illuminated.

Col. Simmons' home shone resplendent with illuminations.

The small boy was happy and the grown folks shed tears of joy.

Which was the fizzle, the Maysville Republican's account, or the jubilation?

There was not a single fight or brawl, and everybody went peacefully home as soon as the exercises were over.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died, in Bertha, Nov. 9th, 1889, of consumption, Miss Lizzie Campbell. She was born Aug. 5th, 1835. She lived and associated with us all her life, and with her sweet grace, her pure and christian character attracted to and gathered around her hosts of friends, who to-day mourn her loss.

She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when about fourteen years old, and was converted about four years ago; and always remained a consistent and honored member. For about two years she was a constant sufferer, and always demonstrated that patience and confidence peculiar alone to the christian. When informed that her case was hopeless, she expressed a desire to live, that she might comfort her mother in her declining years and enjoy the company of her sister, brothers and friends; but it was the Lord's will she was ready and prepared to go. From that time on her anticipation of joy at soon being with her departed father, her admiring gaze to the living, her words of praise and confidence in her Savior, were too numerous even to give a synopsis. Just before she died, after calling around her friends and bidding them a last farewell, she raised her eyes upwards and for a moment seemed to be in conversation (but not audible) with some one absent. She then folded her hands across her breast, and with a heavenly smile on her face quietly passed away.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

A Republican Says the Programme at Their Late County Convention Wasn't Carried Out.

An interesting bit of political gossip reached the BULLETIN yesterday.

It came from a Republican and has reference to the proceedings of his party's late county convention.

The programme, he asserts, wasn't carried out at that meeting. The purpose for which the convention was held was to place a full county ticket in the field to be voted for at the next August election. That was the programme as announced by the Executive Committee, but several fellows who are not particularly pleased with the way in which the "pie" has been handed around in this section got up an addition to this programme. Their purpose was to introduce a motion to depose a certain member or certain members of the County Executive Committee. THE BULLETIN's informant says the party was selected to make the motion and that it would have gone through, as the house was packed for that purpose. However, the party who was to "fire the bomb" weakened at the critical moment, and the meeting adjourned. There would have been lively times had the motion been made, and the row in the Republican ranks would have been intensified. The end is not yet.

All the boats everywhere are doing good business, and their business will increase if boatmen will be dignified, help one another, and above all things be punctual."

A. FOSSE MOORE, of Kinny Bottom, has three ancestors noted for their longevity. His father lived to be eighty-six without ever taking any medicine. His uncle died at the age of ninety-six, and only a week before his death walked three miles. He was never afflicted with sickness that he had any reflection of. His grandmother did not die until she had reached one hundred and two years, and the day previous to her death she walked four miles. Few people have ancestors who preserve their health and vigor at such advanced ages.—Vanceburg Sun.

"SILVER BAR MARE" was presented by the Palmer Theater Company last night, at the opera house, in a highly creditable manner and thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The company is composed of fourteen people, each and every one displaying talent of a high order. Mr. Hill's conception of Robert Graham was especially fine, and the support most excellent. One noticeable feature of this company is worthy of mention. Their elaborate stage settings have never been equaled in this city and are on a par with the finest theaters in New York, Chicago or Cincinnati.—Saturday's Ironclad.

This company will begin a three-nights' engagement at the opera house Thursday night.

"DUNLEATH ABBEY, or the Fatal Inheritance," is the title of a work just published by Dillingham, of New York. It is from the pen of Mr. Hanson Penn Diltz, author of the "Duchess Undine." Mr. Diltz is a young Kentuckian whose published productions give promise of a very bright literary career. The plot of "Dunleath Abbey" is ingenious and well constructed, and the story is told with a style and finish indicative of great strength and originality. The work is meeting with a very flattering reception at the hands of the public. The author has served a long and faithful apprenticeship in journalism. He was born in the bluegrass country, but his present home is in Hopkinsville, where he is connected with the local press.—Louisville Commercial.

Proving an Alibi

Such is the Defense in the Cronin Trial.

MAKING BUT LITTLE PROGRESS.

Mike Whelan, the Ex-Detective and Partner of Dan Coughlin Takes the Witness Stand in Coughlin's Behalf, but His Testimony Under a Cloud—Evidence of Other Witnesses.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The usual large crowd was seen in Judge McConnell's court room, when the trial of the Cronin suspects was resumed. Frederick Squibb, the stenographer who took the report of the testimony at the coroner's inquest, was the first witness examined. He testified that "Maj." Sampson had said at the inquest that he had known Dan Coughlin for some time previous to the time the latter approached him to "slug" Dr. Cronin.

Peter Koch, a hardwood finisher, who lives at 529 Otto street, Lakeview, was then called. In reply to questions from Mr. Forrester witness testified that he had known John Kunze for two or three years. Kunze had worked for him some time and boarded at his house. He left his employ between April 8 and 11. Witness was then asked if he knew him as Lynoh, and if Lynoh had spoken to him about Kunze. Mr. Hynes objected.

Forrester then explained that the conversation was about the explosion of the bomb in Lynoh's distillery. "Then Lynoh and Coughlin," continued Mr. Forrester, "went together to Koch's house after Kunze. They took him out, got him drunk and took two papers from him. They wanted a third, but Kunze said he would not take $1,000 for it. The next day Coughlin and Lynoh went to Koch's again and got Kunze. The next day this witness drove Kunze from his house and the latter went to the South Side and changed his name. The papers were supposed to relate to the bomb explosion at the Lynoh distillery."

The court decided that Koch's testimony was regular and he went on to testify that he had seen Coughlin and Kunze together on several occasions. On one of them Coughlin got Kunze drunk and tried to take from him two papers. They had a tussle and Coughlin succeeded. The papers were a letter and a telegram from Burrows, the whisky trust man. Kunze remarked at the time that he had another paper but wouldn't give it up for $1,000. Witness was further examined with the view of showing that it was Lynoh, the millionaire distiller, that was seen with Kunze on Lincoln avenue, and this was April 8 instead of May 14.

Capt. Schnack was recalled, but refused to give the defense his notes of the description given him by Dinan of the man who had hired the white horse on the ground that they were his private property. The ex-captain was an unwilling witness and soon became choleric. He denied that his first statement regarding what he had been told by Mrs. Coughlin and Dinan differed from his last, and his evidence was of but little benefit to the defense.

James Hyland, a laborer, swore that on Sunday night, May 5, he and his cousin Jeremiah called at O'Sullivan's house at 7 o'clock, went out to a saloon and had several glasses of wine. The witness greatly resembled Coughlin, and the purpose of the testimony was to show that it was Sunday night that the men were seen in the saloon by the witness Neenan, and that the men he took to be Coughlin and Kunze were the Hylands.

Jeremiah Hyland was the next witness, and his testimony was substantially the same as that given by his cousin, the preceding witness.

Kunze was called to the stand by the witness to a card the jury an opportunity of noticing the likeness between the two men.

On cross-examination witness said that last week, when he read it in the papers, was the first time he remembered being in the saloon mentioned and he had not been in it since May 5, except Sunday night.

Mike Whelan, the ex-detective and partner of Dan Coughlin, was next called, and testified that on the night of May 4, Saturday, he was at and about the Chicago Avenue station from 8 o'clock until midnight. From 8 to 10 witness saw Coughlin several times, at no time until the last mentioned hour, was Coughlin out of his sight for more than half an hour. Witness, Coughlin and Sergeant Stiff went into Gleason's saloon and had a drink. He was positive as to the date, for on that day he attended the funeral of an old friend, and in the evening he learned of the promotion of Lieut. Brennan to be secretary of police.

On cross-examination Whelan said he did not tell the coroner's jury that the last time he saw Coughlin on the night of May 4 was 7 o'clock; on the contrary, he was with the suspect from nearly that hour till 10 p. m. Witness said that he and Coughlin were sent to search for Smith on May 7. While out Coughlin stopped and talked with a man whom Coughlin subsequently told witness was Smith, the driver of the white horse. Why Coughlin did not arrest Smith witness could not tell. Witness was suspended from the force on May 23, the day of Coughlin's arrest. "Did you not on the night you were suspended appear before the mayor, chief of police, Corporation Counsel Hutchinson, Capt. Schuetzler and Attorney Hynes, and say you did not know where Coughlin was on the night of May 4?" asked the state's attorney. Witness said he never told anybody any such thing. The state in rebuttal will put the mayor and others on the stand to contradict the last answer.

"When you and Coughlin saw Smith why didn't you arrest him?"

"Because we understood he was not wanted."

"Then why were you looking for him?"

Witness tried to explain that he understood Smith was not wanted; but the effort was a very lame one.

Sergt. Stiff testified to having seen

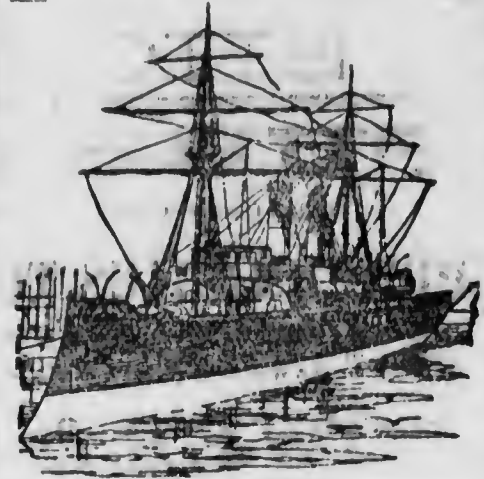

Coughlin about the station between 9 and 10 o'clock on the night of May 4 with Whelan, and that he took a drink with the two detectives.

Witness on cross-examination acknowledged that he said nothing about his evidence to any one but Capt. Solanek and then not before the last of June.

At the conclusion of Stiff's examination, court adjourned.

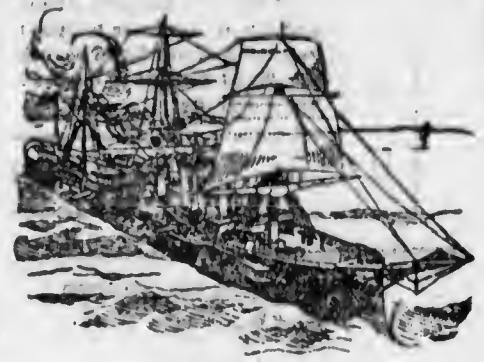

OUR NEW NAVY.

The First Squadron Starts on a Year's Cruise in Foreign Waters.

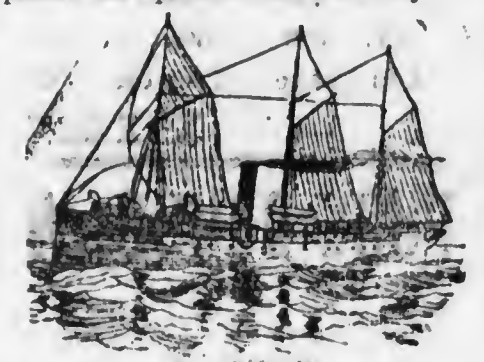

CRUISER BOSTON.

New York, Nov. 19.—The first squadron of the new navy left this port precisely at noon yesterday for a cruise in foreign waters that will extend for a period of one year. The squadron was composed of four new entirely completed and equipped ships of war, built wholly of American rolled steel, the Chicago, Boston, Atlanta and Yorktown.

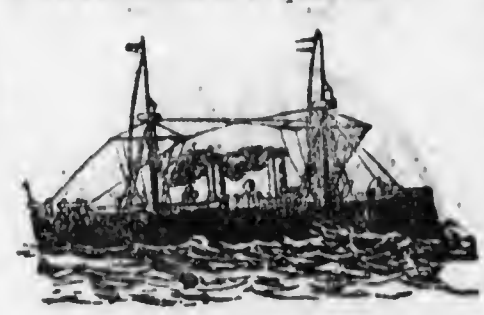

THE CHICAGO.

They presented a pretty sight as they steamed out of the harbor and down the bay through the Narrows on their way to sea, a space of a few ships' lengths only between them. Acting Rear Admiral Walker was in command, and his pennant was flying from the Chicago. The United States man-of-war Dolphin, with Secretary Tracy on board, accompanied the squadron down the bay.

THE YORKTOWN.

As the fleet went by the fort in the harbor it was royally saluted, and the guns of the vessels thundered back a response. The weather was fine. The ships are going abroad for the double purpose of showing foreigners that the United States have some war ships, and also for exercising the officers and men in the evolutions of a squadron.

THE ATLANTA.

No definite program has been arranged for the trip. The squadron will be governed entirely by occasional orders from the navy department. The squadron will touch at Boston where it will remain a week. From there it goes to Lisbon, Portugal, touching possibly at the Azores.

Condition of Jefferson Davis. New Orleans, Nov. 19.—Mr. Jefferson Davis had an attack of fever about noon yesterday, but grew better toward evening. His condition is still very serious. No visitors are allowed to see him.

NOTICE.

The piece in yesterday afternoon's paper in regard to an individual going through Kentucky collecting 75 cents to pay expenses, and promising a life-size crayon picture for that amount, has nothing to do with me, as I am not that individual. I am here to take orders, but not that way. References: Rev. H. M. Seudder, Mr. J. Heyman and Mary Outten, all of Carlisle, Ky. Respectfully,
GEORGE H. KEMP.
